

Graphite on paper drawing where a landscape from the Casa de Campo Park in Madrid is featured. In this composition there is a bench in the foreground to the right followed by some pine trees on the shore of the lake, where masses of trees from the other shore are reflected. In the background there are two recognisable buildings: Edificio Telefónica and Edificio España. This is a more sketched work than other drawings from the same years.

The signature is on the lower side and says "A. López Torres 1963".

Donated by Antonio López Torres in a public deed, 27.10.78.
