

Horizontal work where the artist describes the elements of a threshing floor.

Forming a visual diagonal line, on the left there is a mount of cereals where a threshing is laying on it. On the right side there is another mount of cereals and a house behind it. In the foreground there are also a broom on the floor and some sheaf of cereals. The sky is blue and completely clear.

A range of ochres and yellows predominates in this clear and bright work.

It is signed on the lower right corner as "A. López Torres, 1946".

Donated by Antonio López Torres in a public deed, 14.10.83.
